

Social Networking by Student-Athletes Clear Spring HS Volleyball

In the past, inappropriate use of social media by Clear Springs volleyball players have resulted in the suspension or removal from the program. In an effort to foster good sportsmanship and to deter the need to enforce such discipline, Coach McClellen recommends the following guidelines as best practices for the use of social media by the members of the CSHS volleyball program. For the purposes of these guidelines, social media is any form of electronic communication through which users create online communities to share information, ideas, personal messages, and other content, including but not limited to sites such as Twitter, Facebook, Instagram, Tumblr, Snap Chat.

Coach McClellen, and the volleyball program, respects the right of its players to use social media. It is important for players to understand the need to exercise care in setting appropriate boundaries between their personal and public online behavior and to understand that what may seem private in the digital world can often become public, even without knowledge or consent. Players who use social media must remember that any information posted reflects on the entire CSHS volleyball program, school and community.

BEST PRACTICE FOR SOCIAL MEDIA USE:

These guidelines are intended to provide a framework for the girls in the volleyball program to conduct themselves safely and responsibly in an online environment. As a CSHS volleyball program member, you should:

1. Be Aware that Privacy Settings are NOT Foolproof. Players are highly encouraged to use privacy settings on social media sites. However, players should be aware that privacy settings are not foolproof. Although social media sites provide their users with privacy improvement updates, the changes occur frequently and can get complicated. Even if you diligently monitor your privacy settings, it's best to assume that anything you post may potentially be seen by your school, your coaches, your parents and strangers.
2. Avoid Posting Confidential Information. Be aware of the kind of information you are posting on social media sites. Posting information such as your date of birth, address, phone number, class schedule, social security number, bank account number, etc. is NOT recommended. Once such information is posted, it becomes the property of the social media site.
3. Avoid Unprofessional Public Profiles. Any information you put on social media sites is considered public information and may be viewed by members of the public. Be mindful of the image you create for yourself online. Potential, current and future employers as well as college admissions recruiters may access the information you put on social media sites.
4. Avoid Posting Illegal Activities. Photos posted via social media become the property of the social media site. You may delete the photo from your profile but the photo remains on the social media site's server. Internet search engines such as Google or Yahoo may still find that image long after you have deleted it from your profile. In addition, even if your profile is set to private, a friend can always download and save incriminating photos that third parties, such as the authorities, can use against you in the future. Players should avoid the following:
 - Incriminating photos or statements depicting violence; hazing; sexual harassment; vandalism; stalking; underage drinking; selling, possessing, or using controlled substances; or any other inappropriate behaviors.
5. Avoid Bullying\Threats of Violence. While CSHS players have a right to free speech, that right is NOT unlimited. Bullying is a serious problem and is not limited to student-to-student interactions. Vicious treatment and hateful words often lead to violence, suicide, depression, and discrimination. Players should avoid the following:
 - Derogatory language or remarks about teammates, coaches, students, staff members, athletic administrators, or representatives of other schools;
 - Demeaning statements about and/or threats to any third party; and
 - Creating serious danger to the safety of another person or making a credible threat of serious physical or emotional injury to another person.Players should be aware that if their conduct is deemed inappropriate, such conduct may be subject to discipline, not only by school authorities, but also by law enforcement agencies.
6. Avoid Lying, Cheating & Plagiarizing. Again, all information posted on social media sites is considered public information. It may be viewed by third parties and used against you. It is best to assume that anything you post may be seen by your school, your coaches, your parents and your peers.

Clear Springs high school students participating in the volleyball program should be aware that their online actions have consequences. While the coaches do not actively monitor student social media accounts, it has the right to act on information provided by third parties (i.e. students, parents, & community members). Clear Springs staff also has a right to investigate students; social media sites in the event of allegations of inappropriate online conduct.
